CHATEAU

CHATEAU draws inspiration from the timeless beauty of Italian antique marbles: Carrara, Nero Marquinia, Biancone, Botticino, Rosso Verona, Verde Alpi, and Bardiglio. As with classic marbles, the focus is on evoking both the material and aesthetic allure. The surface features a subtly undulated texture, designed to convey depth and authenticity. Its soft, satin finish enhances the chromatic nuances, bringing the colours to life with remarkable vibrancy during installation. Carefully curated contrasting pairings further elevate the visual impact, creating harmonious compositions that seamlessly balance elegance and character.

CARRARA

Carrara marble epitomizes the pinnacle of Italian craftsmanship, celebrated for its exceptional quality and timeless appeal. Quarried in the Carrara region of Tuscany, this iconic material is renowned for its pure white or gray-blue hues. Revered since ancient Roman times, it has remained a cornerstone of both sculpture and architecture through the centuries. Its fine grain and soft texture make it particularly suited to intricate carvings and refined details, especially in classical art. The enduring elegance of Carrara marble has solidified its status as a symbol of luxury and sophistication.

BIANCONE

Biancone is a quintessential Italian marble, quarried in the Puglia region of southern Italy. Renowned for its pure white or soft ivory hues, it is distinguished by its subtle, understated veining, which lends it a refined and sophisticated charm. The marble's delicate elegance and luminous tone make it a sought-after choice for projects aiming to create a serene and spacious ambiance. It is especially well-suited to Mediterranean and Italian-inspired architectural designs, where simplicity and natural beauty take center stage.

BOTTICINO

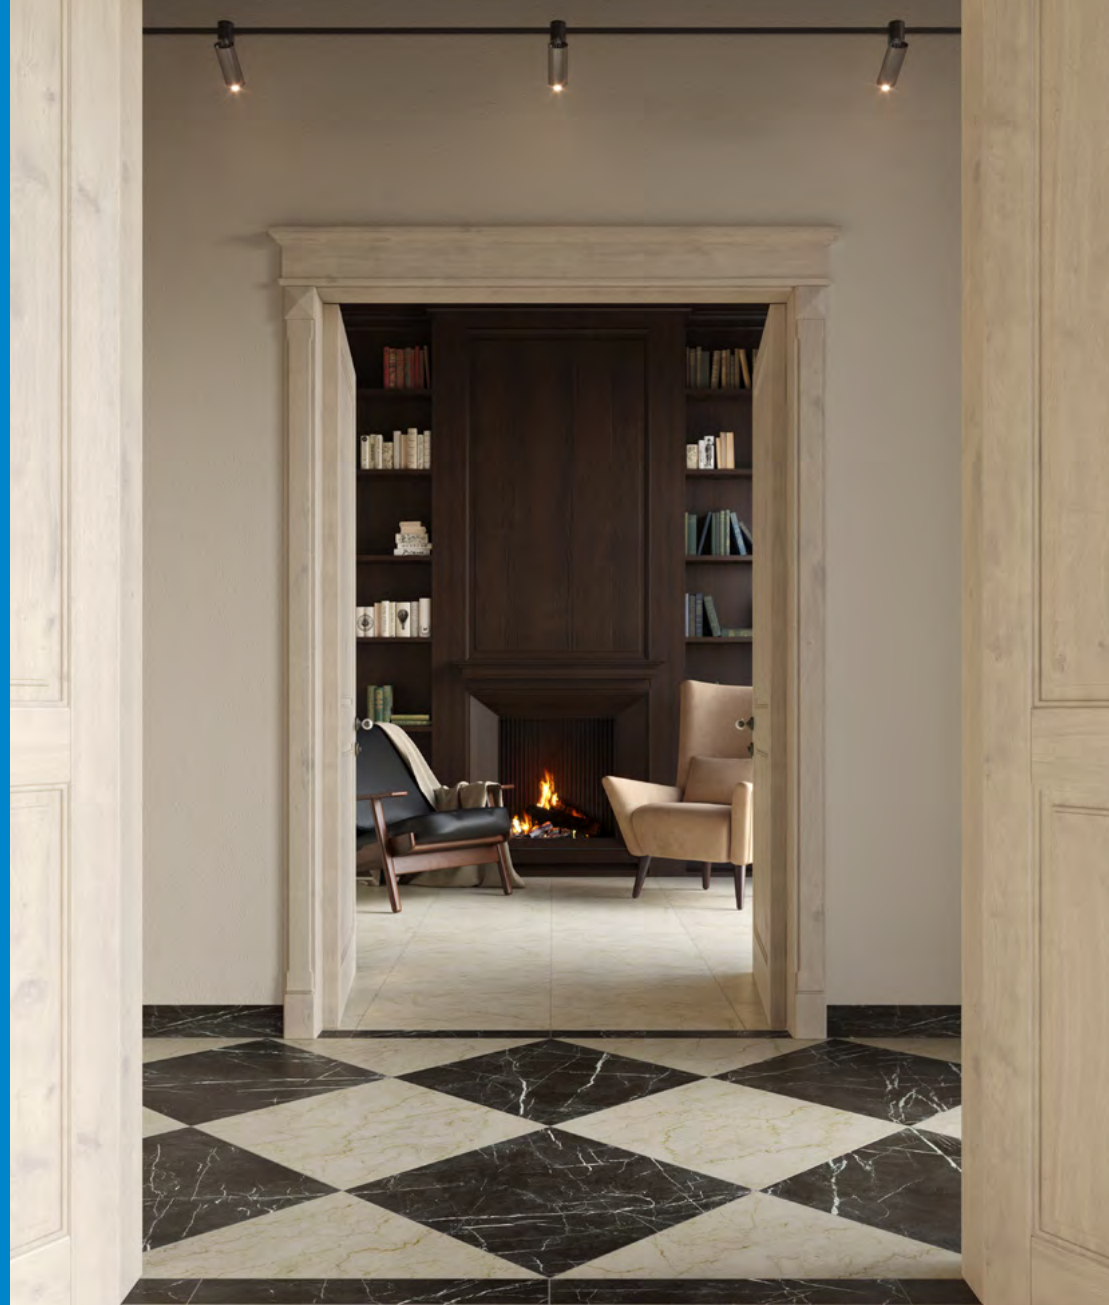

Botticino is a prestigious Italian marble, renowned for its warm beige tones and delicate veining. Quarried in the town of Botticino, near Brescia in northern Italy, this marble has been featured in numerous historic and iconic architectural masterpieces, celebrated for its timeless beauty and allure. Botticino is the ideal choice for projects demanding a classic yet neutral aesthetic with a touch of enduring elegance. Its exceptional durability and soft color palette make it a versatile option for both traditional and contemporary design contexts.

NERO MARQUINIA

Nero Marquina is a prestigious black marble, quarried in the Basque Country of northern Spain. Despite its origins, it has become an integral part of Italian architectural tradition, widely associated with the high standards of Italian marble due to its prominent use in luxury interior design and architecture. Renowned for its deep black color, Nero Marquina is distinguished by striking white veining. The sharp contrast between the dark background and the vivid white streaks lends it a bold yet elegant appearance, embodying refined sophistication.
